Eliminating Cervical Cancer: An Urgent Need for HIV-positive Women

Tuesday, July 25, 7:00–8:30

Maillot Room at International AIDS Society Conference 2017

Those of you attending the International AIDS Society meeting in Paris later this month will be interested in this important panel with featured speakers Mr. Michel Sidibé (UNAIDS), Dr. Marijke Wijnroks (The Global Fund), and Dr. Sharon Kapambwe (Zambia Ministry of Health), among others. The panelists will share the latest developments in cervical cancer prevention and the potential for world-changing progress in eliminating a disease that kills more than 260,000 women every year.

Cervical Cancer Prevention: Recent Progress and the Unfinished Agenda in Low and Middle-income Countries
